INDEX

Book Reviews
14, 22, 33–34, 36–40, 54, 64, 77–80, 98, 101–102, 107–108, 127–128, 151–154

Botany
Further notes on the history of botanical investigation on Thorne Moors, 21–22; Botanical report for 1987, 50–54; Botanical report for 1988, 103–106

Coleoptera
Association between carabid beetle distribution and vegetation on the North York Moors, 41–50

Crustacea
Current distribution of Corophium curvispinum var. devium in Britain with notes on its ecology in the Shropshire Canal, 15–17

Ecology
Association between carabid beetle distribution and vegetation on the North York Moors, 41–50; Vegetation changes on Ilkley Moor 1964–1984, 109–114; Plant succession in Middle Wood, Askham Bog, 115–127

History
First recorders of the Goole Scientific Society, with particular reference to Thomas Bunker, 93–97

Hymenoptera
Spider-hunting wasps in Watsonian Yorkshire, 3–14; Wasps and bees of Allerthorpe Common before and after coniferization, 129–137

Lichenology
Progress in the study of the Yorkshire lichen flora, 31–33

Mammals
Recent occurrences of harp seal in the North Sea, 17–19; Badger cub mortality at a sett in the Doncaster area, 19–20; Annual avian and mammalian traffic mortality along a South Yorkshire road, 99–101; Latrine training of a badger cub, 137

Obituaries
Rev. Thomas Basil Kitchen, 71–72; Arthur Gilpin, 72

Ornithology
Breeding biology of the buzzard in North Wales, 23–31; The gannet, 35; Shelduck using cylindrical bales for nest site, 73; Long-tailed tit, 76; Decrease in carrion crow numbers following sheep removal and afforestation, 81–84; Lapwing with abnormal clutch, 92; Annual avian and mammalian traffic mortality along a South Yorkshire road, 99–101; Possible incestuous breeding by yearling barn owls, 137–138

Palaeoecology
Age and palaeoecology of some Sub-Shirley Hill Sand peat deposits, 65–69

Palynology
Three pollen diagrams from the eastern North York Moors, 55–63

Yorkshire Naturalists' Union
Excursions in 1987 (continued), 73–76; Excursions in 1988, 139–151